THE architectural defects of our presen Supreme Court are so patent that we cannot help wondering why the member of the legal profession have not long ago united in asking for new and more astixiautory agrangements . The witnesses in any case which may be on for hearing have to be kept in a passage, whence, if they choose, they can generally manage to overhear whatever may be going on The robing room for practitioners conwhereon to hang gowns, and the room in dusstion is the same as that devoted to the storage of the effects of deceased intestates. It has no particular will be despatched with the Mails for praison d'etre in the Court House, and the room is preently wanted elsewhere. In a small room on the lower floor some respectable resident might be licensed to supply luncheous, wine and beer, and we are tolerably sure that he would do a fairly good business if he confined his stock to articles which did not require reparation. The three large rooms now occupied by the Registrar General's offices would afford, ample space for robing and retiring round, while jurors would also be able to obtain resumable refreshment during long trials. We express a very general opinion in urging these considerations on the attention of the authorities.

> Some remarks made by the advocate for the defence in a case concluded yesterday hive rise to suggestive reflection. The plaintiff claimed a certain sum as recompense for injuries received on board a vessel belonging to the defe dants (Messes D. Lapraik & Co.), and in, the course of the trial it was shown that he had engaged the services of a Chinese " Doowho professed himself unacquainted with anatomy or surgery and administ edetation of continem irrepair port external inflammation from bruises. Mr Brereton urged that this individual was weakened the plaintiff's case. But the earned gentleman evidently forgot that the Hongkong Government itself subidizes an institution in which the treatment accorded to patients is administered by "medical natives" of precisely the same class as the individual so denounced. If Mr Brereton's allegation be correctand, saving official views, we must confees to greatly sympathising with his utterance—the Government not merely condones but subsidizes "quackery." If it be incorrect. Chinese doctors are respectable practitioners, and the opinions so often expressed by our own professional men on their qualifications are sume a knowledge of anatomy, and at least the general principles of surgery, to necessary qualifications for a man who pretends to treat patients. In official opinion we are wrong, but what says the law? We hope that the judge ment on the case in question will (when delivered) give us some enlighterment on this head. It is absurd to maintain that, for purposes of spending $115,000 Chinese doctors are respectable -- ractitioners, and at the same time assert that for purposes of treating Europeans they Complaints have reached us from both European and Chinese sources, and we most thoroughly admit them to be well founded. The Registrar General should see to this. If want of room be the reason, it is an additional reason in favour of a move to more commodious premises.

THE SPIRIT OF THE MORNING PRESS. THE Prose comments on the excitement caused at Ledo by the establishment of a verbacular paper by Mr. J. R. Black, & British subject. It says that the Japanese officials not unnaturally regard the issue of the Bankoku Shimbun as an attempt by a foreigner to give the natives a means of sixpressing opinions hostile to the Government and to the laws, without incurring the pains and penalties which a breach of the Press laws entails upon the journalist. The attempts made to stiffe this paper are not judicious, but the diffiguities which bes set the path of the Mikado's Ministers are neither few nor small, and a good deal no allowance should be made for them when they commit mistakes of this character. The press laws have been carried out with injudicious severity. But however much tains neither a wash-hand stand nor its foreigners may regret that the Japanese accompaniments. There are no page Authorities have seen it to stiffe liberty of discussion in the public Press, they have no right to interfere. The question boncorns the Japanese and the Japanese alone. A LIGHNSING meeting of Justices took place yesterday to consider the renewed application of Mr Dorabjee Nowrojee, for an adjunct license to sell spirituous liquors at British Kowloon, (Garden lot No. 15 Tsimsha taui). A very pleasant evening's entertainment was afforded by the hospitable Amateurs of the German Club to their friends last evening in the shape of a theatrical performance. The pieces chosen were "He shall be thy master" and "The Elizir of Love." The first piece went very nicely, the Uncle, who was the dus ex machina of the piece, doing his part especially well. In the second the young pessant, too bash-"fut to declare his love and who owing to a misunderstanding is out out by his garrulous rival the barber, afforded an infinite fund of ammement. . His discovery that the Blixir of love (in the shape of cham-__ pague) could be sold for so much per bottle was capital, and he acted his part throughout in the most satisfactory manner. The Barber was as delightful a vagabond as has ever been seen on local boards. The female parts were "well filled," especially that of Rosetta, who really acted a very trying role with considerable taste. Altogether the evening was a most successful one. We must not emit to notice the very pleasant rendering of the songs, a wellknown Amateur accompanying them most ably on the piano. The Band of the 80.b. which was in attendance, added to the completeness of the arrangements, which from first to last were admirably carried out.

With regard to the second charge, the Captain's attention had been called to the theft by Richard Caverly, one of the seamen. Richard Caverly said he had roused by Ashton, who saked him for the loan of his knife to olean his pipe with, and it was then he saw the three first defendants with the beer. He was saked to drink some, but refused. Hart told him if he informed on them he would fix him in London, or wherever else he

The prisoners all denied the charge and said they were in bed the whole night. They were ordered to pay the value of the beer ($15.00) and were each sentenced to 12 weeks' hard labour.

SUPREME COURT.

IN ORIGINAL JUBISDICTION. (Before Mr Justice SnowDan.) February 2, 1876.

WHITTALL AND LINSTEAD V. THE HONGKONG AND SHANGEAT BANK, $13,000.

This case was tried without a Jury and was a suit by the plaintiffs as Trustees for the estate of the late firm of A. Heard & Co., to recover the proceeds or value of 130 shares in the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation and other Companies which had been mortgaged to the bank, and which the bank retained on the failure of Mesars A. The Attorney Ceneral, the Hon. Mr. Bramston, and Mr Kingsmill, instructed by Means Caldwell & Brereton, appeared for the plaintiffs, and

The Chinese corvette Yang Woo, under command of Captain Tracey, B.N., is shortly expected from Japan. On her return, preparations will, we understand, be made for a more lengthened cruize to Australia, Europe, and America.

We understand that the Stewards of the Race Club have applied for the use of the Tartar Camp, in connection with the Spring Meeting, and that the matter is in abeyance, pending the resumption of official business at the close of the native New Year

Anent Theatrical matters, the committee have, for the present, postponed further arrangements, but hope to give a performance some time next month.

It is very gratifying to note that both the Tives and Racquet Clubs are pecuniarily—in a most flourishing state.

A fire, on a small scale, broke out in the City on the eve of the Chinese new year. It did not spread very far.

The Courier line between this and Amoy will be discontinued on the last day of the present month | but will, we are informed, he re-established on the lat of May nexton the same basis as before. The Couriers have throughout kept their time-45 hours -very accurately, not a single letter having been lost or belated; and have so far done good service to the mercantile community. in the absence of the more rapid telegraphic communication with Amoy which many desire to see established.

A little confusion as said to reign in the City just now, in consequence of the delay that has taken place in filling up the vacancy caused by the regent death of the Futal, or Governor. The post was offered to ling A cheong, the present Imperial Commissioner at the Arsenal, but declined by that functionary, on the ground of old age and ill health. The real objection is however. believed to be based on unwilling was to comply with the new regulation by which the lutal is sompelled to reside during six months of the year in Formosa.
